Annual Meeting of Electric Co-operative

The Very Rev. Francis Bowes Sayre, Jr., Dean of the Washington Episcopal Cathedral, and a grandson of President Woodrow Wilson, will be the principal speaker at the 13th annual membership of the Southside Electric Cooperative to be held in the Crewe Stadium in Crewe on Friday, July 14, it was announced today by C. S. Hooper, Jr., the manager.

Dean Sayre will be introduced by Rowland Wood, Jr., Rector of the Thomas Memorial Episcopal Church in Crewe. Dean Sayre speaks at the afternoon session of the all-day meeting.

The speaker is a graduate of Williams College, Union Theological Seminary, New York, and the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge.

After serving two years as Assistant Minister of Christ Church in Cambridge, he entered the Navy and served with the Pacific Fleet for two years. His duties included assignment to minister to the prisoners and to the natives of the islands that had been starved by the Japanese, especially the Cullen Leper Colony.

After he left the Navy, Dean Sayre went to Cleveland to do executive work as an industrial chaplain. His job was to build a bridge between labor unions and the Church and between management and the Church and to find out how the Church might bring its counsel and Gospel to working people in the areas of contemporary industrial life.

He served as Rector of St. Paul's Church in Cleveland from 1947 until he assumed Dean of the Cathedral this spring.

At present, he is in Europe on a mission for the Church, but will return to live in Crewe on Saturday, July 14, for an inspirational address on "Christianity and World Conditions." The membership of the Cooperative and the public in general are invited to hear Dean Sayre's address.

Wheat Crop Now Being Harvested

Harvest of the 1951 wheat crop is underway in Appomattox County this week, and the Production and Marketing Administration suggested that farmers consider carefully before selling their grain.

Wheat growers were reminded by E. R. Gowin, PMA County Chairman, that price support loans, announced earlier this year, are available through the local PMA office in Appomattox. If growers don't need immediate cash, they can get price protection by taking out a purchase agreement with PMA. That is a plan whereby the producer keeps title to his stored grain but has the option of delivering it to PMA at the support rate if he can not otherwise find a suitable market.

The support rate on wheat is 90 per cent of parity on July 1, which is the beginning of the marketing year. The 1951 loan rate in Appomattox County is $2.38 per bushel for U. S. No. 1 grade. The base rate in 1950 was $2.23 a bushel. Discounts apply to wheat below No. 1 grade. To be eligible it must be at least No. 3, or may be No. 4 or 5 solely on the factor of testweight. There are other discounts for smut and garlic content.

A feature of the 1951 loan program different from last year, is that farmers must pay their own storage charges, Mr. Gowin explained. The storage charge in warehouses approved to store wheat under loan is fixed under a Uniform Grain Storage Agreement with the PMA. It amounts to 11 cents a bushel on wheat placed in storage before September 22, 1951. After that date it is pro-rated.

"There are a number of factors for producers to consider before they can decide whether or not it is to their advantage to take out wheat loans," Mr. Gowin pointed out. "The PMA county office, now open five and a half days a week, will be glad to give growers full details on the loan program."

Mr. Gowin further noted that a price support program, similar to that on wheat, is offered on barley, oats and rye. The barley loan rate is $1.26 a bushel for No. 1 grade; the oats rate is 83 cents a bushel for No. 3 or better; and the rye rate is $1.42 a bushel for No. 2 grade. The PMA office has details on these programs.

Warehouses where growers in this part of the state will normally deliver grain are Amherst Milling Co. and Dixie-Portland Flour Mills in Richmond.

GOALS ADOPTED FOR PASTURE PROGRAM

Specific goals for the 1951 state pasture program in Virginia were adopted by the State Pasture Committee at its recent meeting in Richmond.

They are: to provide adequate pasture on each farm for the livestock now on the farm; and to increase the acreage of improved pasture and the number of head of livestock on each farm as rapidly as economic conditions and good farm management will justify.

The committee chairman, Dr. W. S. Newman, president of V. P. I., pointed out that the present acreage of pasture available land will provide adequate grazing for at least double the present number of livestock. The improvement of pastures should precede the expansion in livestock numbers.

When the objectives are reached, Dr. Newman said, it will mean an increase of about $75,000,000 a year in the agricultural income of Virginia.

New Books Now at The County Library

For your summer's pleasure and enjoyment, the Appomattox County Library announces that the following new books are available:

"From Here To Eternity," By James Jones, the ranking best seller based on reports from leading sellers in 36 states. This is a story of Army men in garrison life during the months before Pearl Harbor. Most critics agree that this remarkable first novel is one of the most impressive that has been published in years. Many rank it with the best of Dreiser, Hemingway and Faulkner. The author was born on November 6, 1921 in Illinois. He was enlisted as a private in Chanute Field in the year 1939, and was discharged from the Army July 6, 1944, Camp Campbell, Ky.

"The Far Side of Paradise: A Paradise of Scott Fitzgerald"—By Arthur Mizener. This is a major biography which does full justice to Fitzgerald, both as a writer and as a man representative of his times. In the beginning, it was a legend of glitter, of America's adolescence—in the middle it is a legend of disillusionment—gaiety and the freedom to express oneself—and in the end it is a legend of despair of personal tragedy and inner struggle. This is more than a biography—it is the unfolding drama of half a century of American life.

"Proud New Flags" by F. Van Wyck Mason. With this book one of America's leading historical novelists begins a new series. This colorful tale covers the decisive year beginning March 1861, and of the naval war between the Northern Union and the Southern Confederacy. The tale opens in Baltimore—a gay city in the no man's land of the growing conflict—where the lovely Savannah belle, Sylvia Seymour, welcomes her handsome brother-in-law, Lt. Seymour, U. S. N., home from the sea.

"The Riddle of MacArthur" by John Guenther. John Guenther went to Japan shortly before the outbreak of the Korean hostilities to find what was fiction in this legendary figure—he talked to MacArthur at length in the conquered city which he had ruled like a Caesar. Readers will find this friendly yet critical presentation the answer to a real need for a frank and unbiased portrait of Douglas MacArthur.

"Maria and The Captain" by Isabel Dunn. A most refreshing and vital story between a father and incorrigible daughter. The author is a native of Richmond—it is her first book and in it you will find many reminiscenses of the old capital of Virginia.

"An Eighteenth Century Garland—The Flower and Fruit Arrangements of Colonial Williamsburg" by Louise Fisher. This is a story about flowers and fruits and their use in the restored buildings of Colonial Williamsburg. Mrs. Fisher, the wife of one of the professors of the College of William and Mary, is employed by the restoration to arrange all of the flowers in the Palace, Capitol, Raleigh Tavern, etc. Beautiful pictures in color adorn the book throughout.

Library is open daily, Monday - Friday, 9:00 until 4:00 - Tuesday evenings, 7:00 - 9:00.

Abbitt Bill Wins Approval By House

Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt of the Fourth Congressional District announced this week in Washington that the House of Representatives passed the bill he introduced, H. R. 4475, dealing with dark-fired tobacco as it affects Virginia.

Those interested in dark-fired tobacco in Virginia have been working on this matter for a long time. The Department of Agriculture was unwilling to act, under the present law, and it became necessary to amend the present law if the dark-fired tobacco growers of Virginia were to secure adequate relief.

Abbitt stated that the bill, as passed by the House, provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall increase the marketing quotas and acreage allotments for farms to make available a supply of type or types of tobacco adequate to meet the demands and carry over requirements. This should mean that the Virginia growers who, through no fault of their own, have been reduced more than the growers of similar tobacco in other states should have their allotments increased and brought into line on an equitable basis if the Senate goes along with the House and passes the bill.

Institute of Rural Affairs To Be Held This Month

The 18th session of the Institute of Rural Affairs begins at V. P. I., on Wednesday, August 1, and closes with the evening session on Friday, August 3. The Virginia Agricultural Conference Board and the Virginia Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs will hold meetings on Wednesday, August 1, preliminary to the opening of the Institute that night. Facilities will not be available for couples. Women and men will be quartered separately. The college will furnish mattresses, sheets and pillowcases and soap. Towels will not be furnished. Cost of lodging will be $1.00 per person per night. Meals secured in the dining hall will be 60c per meal.

Interesting programs have been prepared which will be helpful to and enjoyed by the men and women of Appomattox County. Printed programs will be available early in July at the local county agent's office. Contact Mrs. B. G. Anderson, home agent, or R. B. Hudgins, county agent for further details.
